Rub down ribs with your favorite rub ,wrap and place in fridge overnight, if using baby backs remove the membrane, place in smoker next day and follow 3-2-1-method using apple for smoke ,spraying periodically with apple juice.

Use sauce generously (on both sides ) or to taste when foiling along with a little splash of apple juice.

Baste with sauce both sides 2 times after removing from foil, during the set-up time ( last hour ).

This will make enough sauce to do approx 6 full slabs of baby backs, and the end result should be deliciously sticky sweet apple ribs ...
